- Everyone should take a couple of minutes to come up with two true facts and one lie about themselves. People should try to make all of the facts about as believable as each other so it's tricky to tell which one's the lie. They could choose two outlandish truths or a really authentic lie.
- The first person should read out their truths and lie to the rest of the group.
- Everyone should take it in turns to ask some questions that help them figure out which statement is a lie.
- Everyone should vote on which statement they think is the lie. (They could vote by typing the number into the video chat or holding up a number of fingers).
- The person who went first should reveal which statement was a lie.
- The next person should read out their statements and everyone should repeat steps three to five.
